SJVN eyeing to tap 5,000 MW renewable energy in Punjab

Shimla, Sep 2 (IANS) After signing a pact for developing 10,000 MW solar projects and parks in Rajasthan, public sector SJVN is now eyeing to tap renewable energy in Punjab, which holds a huge potential for generation from agro-residues, an alternative model of diversification, besides solar power.

SJVN Chairman and Managing Director Nand Lal Sharma met Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann in Chandigarh on Thursday and expressed keen interest in developing 5,000 MW renewable energy projects in the state.

Sharma told IANS that he proposed to develop solar energy projects either by way of joint ventures formation or memoranda of understand by setting up canal top projects and floating solar projects across the state.

Chief Minister Mann assured all possible support in the development of projects, he said.

Sharma made a comprehensive presentation and apprised that SJVN has 42,000 MW in its kitty, which includes a strong renewable portfolio.

"SJVN has outlined a roadmap for developing renewable energy in Punjab due to exponential power demand owing to developmental activities. SJVN looks forward to be a strategic partner in this growth story of Punjab by harnessing green energy," said Sharma.

Currently, SJVN is developing a 100-MW solar power project in Punjab with an outlay of Rs 545 crore and the power purchase agreement for this was signed with Punjab State Power Corp Ltd (PSPCL) on June 23.
